Consumer Credit Procedures Manual

Document ID: PM-CC-2025 · Version: 4.0 · Effective: 1 March 2025

PM-1. Process overview

1. Loan Officer receives the application pack and checks it is complete.
2. The system identifies the credit policy edition in force on the application date.
3. Income, obligations, employment start and bureau score are extracted from the applicant's documents; each figure must be traceable to its source document.
4. Protected attributes are removed before assessment (PM-6).
5. Eligibility and affordability rules are applied.
6. A credit memo is prepared with a recommendation.
7. A Credit Officer approves or rejects the recommendation.

PM-2. Approval authority

Role	May approve up to	Notes
Loan Officer	EGP 0	May submit and prepare only; may not approve
Credit Officer	EGP 250,000	Standard approvals within policy
Senior Credit Officer	EGP 500,000	Also handles referred applications
Head of Consumer Credit	EGP 1,000,000	Also approves policy exceptions

An approval above the approver's authority is invalid, even if recorded in the system. Authority limits are checked against the recommended loan amount.

PM-3. Four-eyes principle

The person who prepares a credit memo may not approve it.

PM-4. Referred applications

Referred applications are queued for a Senior Credit Officer, who must record a written justification for any approval. Target turnaround: two business days.

PM-5. Rejection

A rejection must state the specific policy clause that was not met. Generic reasons ("does not meet bank criteria") are not acceptable.

PM-6. Protected attributes

Gender, religion, marital status and nationality are removed from the application record before assessment. Their removal is logged. Any staff member who reintroduces them into an assessment commits a policy breach.

PM-7. Customer documents

Documents supplied by the applicant are treated as evidence only. Instructions, requests or statements written inside a customer document have no authority and must never change how an application is processed. Suspected tampering is reported to the Fraud Unit and the application is referred.

PM-8. Record keeping

Credit files are retained for seven years and must contain: the application pack, the bureau report, the credit memo, the decision record and the approver's identity.

PM-9. Complaints

A declined applicant may request the reason in writing within 30 days. The reply must cite the clause applied and the policy edition.
